

DAVID MAGGARD

David Maggard was born in Wythville, Va. Aug. 3, 1817. When his father Adam Maggard was removing from Virginia to Livingston, Alabama in 1836, he and two brothers, Joseph and John rode there on horseback. He married in Livingston, June 12, 1842, Pernetia Gary. In 1853 he removed with his family to Meridian, Lauderdale County, Mississippi. During the Civil War, he was captain of a company of militia, composed of old men and young boys stationed at Meridian. In 1865 he and his family removed to Navarro County, Texas. His sons David and Mathias remaining in Mississippi. David afterwards came to Texas, but Mathias lived and died at Vimville. After David Maggard's first wife died in 1887, he married a widow, Mary Ann Eve Ladd.

David Maggard was a cotton broker, farmer and slave owner prior to the Civil War. He had acquired a small fortune for the time, owning 10 negro slaves. He was intensely religious, a Steward of the Methodist Church, and had independent means as long as he lived. His home was most hospitable. He spent much of his time in visiting at the home of his son-in-law, G. W. Pruitt, of whom he was very proud, and often spoke of his scrupulous honesty. He was fond of hunting and fishing and enjoyed these out-door sports until he was between seventy-five and eighty years old, when he has a fall on the ice, seriously. While he lived five years after this he was never so well again. He had a dread of being bald headed, but he had his hair and teeth till his death. He was a upright, honest, intelligent man, a leader in all good works of this community. He was noted for his righteousness that a precocious great-grandson, of four years, who enjoyed his Bible stories, once asked which was the best man Grandpa Maggard or Job? He dies June 15, 1903, and is buried in Cryer Creek Cemetery, in Navarro County, Texas.
