The information between these three asterisk lines is information that was mailed to me by Joyce Porter, which came from the book Chickasaw County History, Vol. 1, page 205, 206 and 207. None of this information has been verified by me. In fact there is several conflicting names and dates from what I have already found. I have spoken with Ann Boyd Herbert about this and we decided that we would research the Scotland vs Wales issue that these documents raised and verify the other issues at a later time. After his death of his first wife, John Alexander Brand married a Mrs. Mixon who was a sister of his first wife, but this marriage ended in a divorce. His third wife was Ella Stribling and to this union a daughter, Marie was born.

Except the apart of the farm owned by Annie Brand Pearson and her family, the land that belonged to John Alexander Brand and his descendants is still owned by the Brand family. When John Alexander Brand died in 1905, he left a large portion of this land and the family home to his three unmarried children: Francis Elizabeth ("Bettie") unmarried and no children, John Thomas Brand, and James William ("Jim") Brand. John Thomas later married and after the death of these three, his wife, Virgie Davis Brand and their children, James Thomas ("J.T.") managed the farm until his death in 1980.

Several of the original homes are still occupied. Christine Brand still resides in the home of her late parents and James Thomas "Jimmy" Brand, Jr. resides in the original family home of his great grandfather, Hohn Alexander Brand. "J.T.'s wife Mildred Watkins Brand, still lives in the farm also. Bonnie Pearson Gregory lives on part of the land that belonged to her great grandmother, Annie Brand Pearson, and John Skelton Bran's wife Mildred Goodwin Brand lives on the Robert lee Brand farm.

Even though several families of the original sharecroppers still occupy homes on the farm, they work elsewhere. Since the death of J.T. Brand in 1980, the farming land has been leased to others.

Notes for ELIZABETH JANE HUSSEY:

I am a little confused about the below information. According to everything that I have found Elizabeth Jane Hussey married James Brand III and I found where she was buried at a cemetery called Souls Chapel Cemetery. I found the following information at the website www.rootsweb.com/%7Emschicka/soulsresr.html. The only difference in the dates is the marriage date. I have Dec. 13, 1837.

Soul's Rest Cemetery,
Chickasaw Co, MS

Take Hwy 8 west from Houston to Trebloc. About 1 mile past Trebloc, Ms take the Una Road, first road to the right. Continue on this road about 3/4 miles. The cemetery is on the left side of the road on top of a hill in a pasture. This cemetery was cataloged by James Clark about 1980-1981.

At the time Mr. Clark cataloged this cemetery, he included the following note on the condition of the cemetery: "This cemetery is in very bad shape. Someone has fenced it in in the past few years to keep cows and other stock out. (It is located in a pasture that has been in use for some time.) A lot of the markers were broken and/or have been on the ground for so long that they cannot be read. I recorded all I could. The grass and weeds are head tall and this area is thickly wooded."

Notes for THEOPHILUS G. BRAND:

Notes by Ann Boyd Herbert, great granddaughter of Theophilus & Bettye Brand: First, I found that these two were step-brother & sister when doing the research. Theophilus' father married Bettye Smith's mother. A notation in a family Bible says she was 16 when they married. I knew they lived their lives & raised their family in Egypt, MS & I had visited there a few times in childhood. Some things I remember; the house was built with the old traditional "dog-trot", a wide hallway thru the center of the house off which opened bedrooms, dining room & kitchen. In each bedroom was either a fireplace or a small iron grate to put hot coals in to give off a small amount of heat. In winter, we gladly slept several to a bed to keep warm & covered ourselves with many layers of blankets & quilts. By the time I visited, they had an old box telephone on the wall near the front of that wide hallway. It had a crank on the right side & a receiver hanging on the left and it was mounted too high for children to reach. Egypt, formerly known as Pikeville, was a very small town but it was a railroad "shipping point" for a large area surrounding it. The prairie land was rich & fertile & grew bumper crops. There was a general store across the street from the depot where Uncle Theo worked. The store had a walled-off front corner dedicated as a Post Office & Uncle Theo did duty as the postman there.

The following information was taken from the book titled "Chickasaw County History, Vol 1 on the little town that Theo and his family were living in the 1900 & 1910 census records

* Some years ago this writer found what, for has proved to be the earliest use of the Egypt. This was a reference to "St. Church, Egypt, formerly Pikeville" in the archives of the Episcopal Diocese of Mississippi. This pointed out that people called Egypt as Pikeville's successor at

- 1836 the former came into being and that history should be of the whole agricultural community rather than the "town" of 1837

The eastern part of Chickasaw County was settled so early as the western because of lack of springs to supply water. In the year 1842 only nine votes were cast in it. It is now the Second Judicial District. One of the two earliest settlements in the east was Pikeville located on the east side of Chuqua-tee Creek in section 5, township 14 — range 5 east. The location was dictated by the fact that this was the best crossing on creek and an old Indian road that went from Martin's Bluff (Aberdeen) to Redlands, home of Gen Wm. Colbert, a prominent one was established long before the county was created.

Little is now known about Pikeville. There is a Baptist Church and a Masonic Lodge established before 1850. The post office was organized in 1848. Several stores in it are said to have served local people transients. The chief business was the railroad authorized by the legislature in 1848 built by Dr. James Gillespie and his brother-in-law, Richard Griffin Steele. By the toll road and all the land on which the town of Pikeville was built except twelve acres was taxed to the family of Col. Charles Gates. Col. Gates ran a tan-yard and some farmers say a distillery.

Plans for a railroad from Mobile to the Ohio River began in the late 1840's. Over the years that part of the old Indian road that dictated Pikeville's location, had been moved. Just east of Pikeville it was moved north about half a mile to the line between townships twelve and thirteen, and became known as the north Aberdeen Road, and at the place where it crossed the new railroad, the village of Egypt came into being.

Although the naming of the village has been claimed for others, the weight of evidence now available supports the claim that Col. Charles Gates, Jr. made the selection. Col. Gates owned the land where the station-town was built. He was most active in securing the railroad, calling and addressing meetings to promote the railroad, and being a large stockholder. He was a devout Christian and Bible student and selected a biblical name.

The rotten limestone prairies that predominated in the eastern part of the county were unbelievably rich. They contained more organic matter than can now be artificially induced into soils, and consequently, more nitrogen. The crop that could be most profitably grown on them for the first several years, was corn. Cotton and other crops planted on newly cleared fields made great herbaceous growth but little fruit. Thus, at the time the name Egypt was selected, corn was the principal crop. Most of us are familiar with the biblical story of how when famine came to them, Joseph's brothers sought relief in "Egypt, the land of corn."

The date usually given for the opening of the railroad is 1859, and a post office was established at Egypt that year, but there is evidence that some traffic moved earlier. Most of the building of the railroad had been done by local farmers. The farms were large with many slaves and in seasons when they were unoccupied in the fields the labor was used to construct the railroad. The farmers were not redeemed until 1920.

The census of 1860 lists the railroad agent at Egypt as Henry Carlisle. The hotel keeper was Robert Pulliam. There were several stores doing a general business and more warehouses belonging to merchants in Aberdeen and Houston. Most all letterheads of prominent merchants in those towns at that time list "shipping point, Egypt." There was one doctor, J.M. Greene. The chief local merchants were the firms of Gillespie and Dyche, Gates and Moore, and Clark and Gillespie.

1861 brought succession and war. Little did the people suspect that this was the beginning of the end of the way of life they had always known. The Confederacy was totally supported by the people who called Egypt home. Every family who could, bought bonds. Every household had some member away, most in the Army of northern Virginia, and many families would be smaller in 1865 by several members. Madison Gunn sent three sons, only two of whom returned. Only two of five of Dr. Gillespie's soldier sons survived.

Late in 1862 a Yankee Army penetrated to just south of Okolona and in April, 1863, Col. Hatch, creating a diversion for Gen. Grierson's great raid passed west of the community before doing extensive damage in Okolona. Not until February, 1864 did enemy troops get to Egypt. Gen. Wm. Sooy Smith, leading the northern arm of Gen. Sherman's Meridian Expedition, got as far as West Point before retreating before Gen. Forrest's much inferior force. The enemy army passed through Egypt, both advancing and retreating. In the western area, from Pikeville south, the enemy was especially destructive. The S.P. Gates home at Pikesville, the Dr. Bowen and W.S. Gillespie homes just south and the Gladney and Gardner mill, which ground grain and sawed lumber were all put to the torch. Confederate government cotton, warehouses, military stores, and much privately owned corn, stored in rail cribs near the railroad, were burned. Blacks were encouraged to run away and by the time the retreat began over three thousand had attached themselves to the Yankee Army, bringing with them an equal number of horses and mules taken from local plantations.

As the end neared for the Confederacy, Gen. Grierson again came down the Mobile and Ohio Railroad destroying military supplies, grain, and the railroad. He reached Egypt on December 28, 1864. Such forces as the south could produce had established themselves in a defensive position here and the result was the Battle of Egypt. Federal forces outnumbered Confederate almost four to one and ammunition was in short supply for the defenders. After about a two hour battle the Confederate stockade surrendered. Gen. Grierson's Army, with about 500 prisoners, moved west through Buena Vista, Houston, and on to Yazoo City.

The post war years for Egypt were as hard as in any other area and harder than in many. The principal wealth of the area, slaves, no longer existed. There was no money. Such livestock as had not been contributed to the lost cause had been taken by the enemy. The only industry, the Gladney and Gardner mill, was burned. At the station every building not occupied as a residence had been burned. The railroad had been torn up so many times that freight, if secured on credit, could not be

Second part:

James, Jane and the children are all listed as being able to read and write.

On 26 February 1887, only lacking one week being 78 years old, James Box died, being preceded in death by his daughter Sarah Jane Houser, his son William, and probably also his son James Riley. Another daughter, Louisa Lucius, died exactly one week after James Box, and both are buried in Prospect Cemetery near Sarah Jane Houser.

At the time of James Box's death, Jane was left a widow with only one child at home, this being the youngest, Hannah Virginia. One year later she married John H. Harrington and they made their home with Jane Box. Jane died 4 October 1890, leaving five children, the other five preceding her in death. Jane was sometime called "Jennie". Her will is recorded at Houston, Chickasaw Co., Miss., Will Book I page 100. She left everything to her daughter, Hannah Virginia Harrington, who took care of her during her thirteen years of widowhood.

The original tombstone that was placed in Prospect Cemetery for Jane Box was broken and thus discarded when the cemetery was restored a few years ago. The inscription read: "Gone from our home, but not from our hearts." Carmae Massey, a few years ago, placed a new marker for Jane Box along with one for her great grandmother Sarah Jane Houser, and one for Louisa Lucius, sister of her great grandmother. Pictures of these are in the book. Prospect Cemetery is six miles south of Houston, MS.

Even though James and Jane Box had to sell lots of their possessions in Tippah Co. before they moved to Chickasaw Co., they did bring a few things which have been cherished by members of the family. One of these was the old Bible which is now in the possession of Mrs. Wm. Gann. It is estimated that the Bible was purchased just before the family made their move from Tippah County. The date at the front of the Bible is missing, but by using the color of ink and the style of handwriting as a guide, around 1850 is when data first began being written in it.

The spinning wheel that Jane Box brought with her to Mississippi when she moved from Tennessee is today in the possession of Mrs. Wm. Gann. The loom, however, tore up and has been discarded. Many of the beautiful coverlets and bedspreads that were made on the loom are in the possession of the Dendy heirs. These were made by first spinning the thread, then weaving, then dying with dyes made from roots and herbs.

As long as John Harrington lived the original James Box house could not be torn down, nor could any of the large oak trees be cut. After his death, the house was demolished and the oak trees cut so that pasture land could be available for livestock. After the original James Box house was torn down, a white frame house was built, and today a lovely brick house has been erected on the farm. The log crib still stands, and a picture of it with the spinning wheel and the Box bible are in this book.

James and Jane (McElroy) Box had ten children: 1161. Isaac Box born 11 September 1823, named for his maternal grandfather, Isaac McElroy. 1162. Sarah Jane Box born 22 May 1825, named for her maternal grandmother Sarah Floyd and named for her paternal grandmother Jane?. 1163. Elizabeth Ann Box born 16 September 1827, named for her great aunt, Elizabeth (Floyd) Tubb. 1164. William Box born 21 July 1830, named for his uncle William McElroy. 1165. Robert R. Box born 27 January 1833, named for his paternal grandfather, Robert Box, Jr. 1166. James Riley Box born 15 August 1836, named for his father, James Box. 1167. Louisa Katherine Box born 12 June 1839, named for her great great grandmother, Catherine McElroy. 1168. Mary Sylvester Box born 21 February 1842, named for her second cousin, Mary Sylvester Floyd. 1169. Permelia Ann Box born 4 August 1846. 116(10). Hannah Virginia Box born 20 December 1849.

The following information was told to me by Ann Herbert about her family and what all she remembers:

In June of 1987, my Aunt & I took a day-trip up Hwy. 45 N. to Egypt, MS & the site of the Brand home & farm. The house had burned but we both remembered where it was & that their cotton field was between Hwy. 45 and the house. One of our uncles, Thea, was the postmaster and the post office was a walled-off corner of the general store which was across the main street from the Depot. My grandfather was a conductor on the short-line passenger train called the "Doodle Bug" which ran from Meridian to Okalona, MS., turned around there & returned the next day. The Doodle Bug (of the G.M. & O. railroad) was an early diesel engine that pulled one passenger car, a mail car and a freight car & was the major means of moving mail, passengers & farm supplies along it's short route. Since many of the towns along the route had no ticket agent, they were termed "flag-stops". Passengers could stand by the tracks (some had small shelters with benches for those waiting) and flag down the train. For these passengers, my grandfather had a little book showing the ticket price from & to each stop along the route and he had to collect fares in cash and kept change for that in a little draw-string bag my grandmother made for him. When he came home, I would get in the middle of their bed & thought I was very important when I counted his change from the him. Most of the fares he collected ran from 25 cents to 1.25. My grandfather was later promoted to conductor of "The Rebel" which ran from Mobile to Chicago and to ride that, you had to buy a ticket at a station so I lost my job as "counter".

Now, let's see what I have on my conductor grandfather: His name was Jesse Elias Brand, born May 12, 1880 at McCondy, MS (not sure which of three contiguous counties that is in). On the map, it looks like McCondy may be in Clay Co., Egypt may be in Monroe Co., and Trebloc (place of his parents graves) in Chickasaw Co. He married Helen Clark Sweatman on Oct. 20, 1910 in Meridian, MS and they had two daughters; my mother, Alene Brand Boyd Monnier (b. May 27, 1912 in Meridian and my aunt, Margaret Elizabeth Brand (never married, retired as an Army Nurse) b. Feb. 26, 1915 in Meridian.

My aunt & I found the graves of my grandfather's parents in Boone's Chapel Cemetery in the Shakerag area near Trebloc, MS (maybe in Chickasaw Co.). I was surprised at the spelling on their stones but this is how they read: "Theophilus Brand - June 29, 1845 - Jan. 22, 1911" "Bettye, Wife of Theophilus Brand - Aug. 3, 1855 - Jan 23, 1949". We know that Bettye's maiden name Elizabeth Earl Smith (Sr.)

In the Family Bible there was a faded notation that Bettye was 16 when she married. Also from the Family Bible we found the twelve children of Theophilus and Bettye Brand were:

Johnnie born in 1872; Oden born 1874, then twin girls Ara & Bera in 1876, Ralph in 1878, Jesse Elias on May 12, 1880, Elizabeth Earl (Jr.) in 1882, Theophilus, Jr. in 1884, Willie A. in 1888, Smith E. in 1890, Alene in 1892, and Beatrice in 1893. And after all those children and a hard life of running a farm & raising her family, she lived to the age of 94. For 38 of those years she ran the farm mostly alone, with two sons remaining at home until after her death. Theo, the postmaster, and Willie the hard-working care giver to their very domineering mother stayed and with help from a small number of hired hands, kept the house and fields going for many years.

Apparently Theophilus and Elizabeth do not have a headstone because the Boone's Chapel Cemetery east of Buena Vista is indexed and on-line at www.rootsweb.com/%7Emschicka/boone.html and their name is not listed. By: Becky Coger Roberts 01/10/2008

* Notes for ELIZABETH E. "BETTYE" SMITH:

Note by Ann Boyd Herbert, great granddaughter of Bettye Brand. She was widowed in 1911 when she was 56 and became the head of household. She ran the farm and home for 38 years and was more than up to the task. She was strong and domineering, used a cane during my memory and when she wanted anything she rapped on the floor with the end of her cane and called loudly, "WILLIEEE" and Uncle Willie came running. She was famous for her temper and within the family, when anyone displayed a temper, they were accused of having "a Bettye Brand temper".

Notes for RUFUS F. BRAND:

The following letter was written by Rufus F. Brand on March 10, 1950 at the age of 76 years old and was typed up by his daughter Robinette Brand Rainwater then sent to Helen Duke Siegrist, which was then given to me by Joyce Porter on 01/08/2008.

Tradition states that there were three brothers who came from England about 1785, of whom one was my grandfather.

"My father, James Brand, is supposed to have been the son of one of the these brothers. My father was born in Rockbridge County, Virginia, in 1808 and in young manhood moved to near Huntsville, Alabama and remained there a few years and later moved to "Old Cotton Gin" in Monroe County, Mississippi. He farmed there two years and then bought land in Chickasaw County, Mississippi, about two miles east of McCondy, Mississippi.

The family of my father was composed of three brothers and two sisters, all of whom except one followed him to Chickasaw County, he being the oldest. His brother who came to Mississippi was named Parry Brand, and he had one brother who settled in Tennessee, near Pulaski; who never came to Mississippi. His name was John Brand. He died without issue. Don't remember the girls names but one of them married Mr. Cain of near Una, Mississippi, which was part of Chickasaw County at that time. One, who was said to be an old maid, married Levi Lawson, great grandfather of James Brand Lawson, our nephew.

My immediate brothers are Dr. A.J. Brand, born in 1867; Charles Brand born in 1870, both living in 1950; and one sister, Mollie, born Dec. 1876, and married to James A. Lawson. She died in 1916.

My mother's name was Martha Elisabeth Brewer and she was born in Lamar County, Alabama, in 1834, Dec. 14. She first married John Smith from who, she had four children --- Elias, Bettie, Lundy and Lallie Smith. Lundy and Lallie still living.

My mother's first husband, John Smith, was killed in the Battle of Gettysburg, Pa in 1863. She married father, James Brand in 1866.

My father had several children by his first wife, among whom were Theopolis (or Pop) Brand, Mrs. Jose Odom, and Mrs. Dr. Stanley, of Florence, Alabama.

Parry Brand, my fathers brother, has numerous descendants over Clay, Calhoun, and Chickasaw counties, but Dr. A.J. Brand, Charles Brand, and Rufus F. Brand are the only direct descendants of my father, James Brand, living.

Notes for HELEN CLARK SWEATMAN:
Helen Clark Swetman and the FIRST Daw-daw, a grandmotherly title that has continued down thru at least 2 generations & 3 Daw-daws.
She & her husband, Jesse Elias Brand are both buried in Magnolia Cemetery in Meridian. On the same lot are buried; Louis L. Boyd, Alene Brand Boyd Monnier, Margaret E. Brand and my own place is reserved there too. Two of Helen's sisters are also buried on that lot; Elizabeth Swetman Davis and Susie Belle Swetman Lewis. Helen Clark Swetman married Jesse Elias Brand & they had 2 children; my mother, Alene and my aunt, Margaret Elizabeth.

I named Helen Brand, my maternal grandmother the FIRST Daw-daw beginning a tradition of grandmothers being called by that name. I was one of them and my sister, Jean is another - nice name, if I do say so myself.

Notes for ALENE ALATHA BRAND:

Alene was originally named without a middle name but the state of Mississippi first began issuing birth certificates in the year she was born. When she & her mother, Helen Brand, began filling out the paper work for her belated birth certificate, they jointly decided on the middle name of Alatha.

She married Louis Lee Boyd and they had three children. Louis took his bride to live in Webb Funeral Home for the first three and one half years of their marriage then they moved around the corner from the funeral home to the Colonial Apartments on 8th St. before my brother, Bob was born. We moved around the corner & across an alley from the funeral home. ABH

Notes for ELIZABETH ANN BOYD:

I have long been a history fan and genealogy fits right in with history. I first tried to do a history of the Boyd family in 1965 when I wrote to all of my father's family asking them to send me birth dates & places and death dates and comments. While Dad was alive, his brother and sisters had almost annual family reunions in one hometown or the other so I still have some pictures of the people who attended. I have included some of those in the exhibits so those of you who never knew Dad's family can get a look at them for the first time. I have included other pictures to help us get to know each other. Thanks to all of you for your contributions.

Rob, Lisa and their two sons now live in Henderson, NV where he is Pastor of Green Valley Baptist Church.

In collecting data for this genealogy, I noticed a large number of Ministers. The earliest were in the generations that first came to America from Northern Ireland.

In one publication, this notation was of interest headed, "Three Generations of Methodist ministers" it continued, "Rev. Nathan Boyd moved to Newberry County, South Carolina and settled near New Hope Methodist Church; wife Elizabeth died and left sons; John, Joshua, Aaron, Caleb, George B., James, Mark W., Wesley G. and Lewis M. Family left the Presbyterian Church and became Methodist and two sons were ministers; Rev. Wesley G. Boyd and Rev. Mark M. Boyd, father of famed Methodist minister Rev. Pettus Boyd."

Rob has two sons; Stephen and Michael and Don Boyd of Covington, LA has three sons; Mitch, Matt and Mike for a current total of seven Boyd name-bearers and so the name goes on & on & on. (ABH)

Then they lived in one of those infamous & tiny Katrina trailers for months. Just as they were getting back on their feet, their oldest daughter, Lindsey was killed in a terrible wreck when returning from work.
